Old-Time Hotel Manager Is Dead

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Major S. F. Thorn, for many years manager of the Palace and Grand hotels here, died suddenly Sunday in a San Francisco hospital. He had retired from active business life immediately after the fire, although he was still a prominent figure at the hotels and among San Francisco clubmen. He died at the age of 74.

He came to San Francisco in the early 70s, was for a time captain of a river steamer. Later he became manager of the Cosmopolitan hotel. He was joint manager of the old Palace and Grand hotels at the time of the fire.

WHAT LIQUOR IS 'INTOXICATING?'

Unless Congress defines sharply what is meant by "intoxicating liquors" in connection with the language of the Sheppard amendment as ratified by the states, light wines and beers can be sold in California, in the opinion of the members of the Association Opposed to National Prohibition.

The opinion was expressed at a meeting of the association held yesterday in San Francisco to discuss ways and means for effectively opposing the prohibitory legislation. The courts will be asked to define what is meant by "intoxicating liquors" and by "concurrent jurisdiction" of the nation and the states.

A statement issued by the association declares that unless Congress shall avail itself of the right to define intoxicating liquors, California will have the right to continue the sale of the light beverages.

The California Wet Federation is taking steps to affiliate with the National Association, as are the Grape Growers' Association, the hotel men, distillers, cafe men and others interested in the wet issue.

The use of the referendum, appeals to the courts and close political unity will be employed to defeat the inauguration of the bone dry law applying to California, the meeting announced.

Whist Party to Be Given by Parish

After weeks of active preparation everything is in readiness for the "whist drive and dance" to be given in aid of St. Andrew's Church tomorrow night in New Liberty Hall, Thirty-sixth street and San Pablo avenue. The party will mark the opening of this building. An orchestra will furnish the dance music.

Hofmann's Technique Thrills Hearers Gifted Pianist Charms Big Audience

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH

If there is a greatest of all pianists, it is not Josef Hofmann? If there is a finer piano tone, who possesses it? If there is one who can make powerfully beat out the fury and fire of strong music with more certain control than he, who is it? Who more gifted than he with understanding; who of a finer poetic temperament? Certainly we agree at the Auditorium theater last evening from the last of his enclosures with a string of negatives at our lips in answer to these questions. Nor is it a judgment that sleeping upon changes. Year after year Hofmann comes back to impress us each time more surely with the fact that he is the master pianist of his class; that class of objective artists who alone can be really called "interpreters;" those few men on the concert stage today whose technique is Beethoven and none other, whose Chopin and Liszt are to be distinguished by the least attentive.

The concert was the second of the artist's series. The theater was packed from wall to wall. More than that, the audience, which lost no chance to register its appreciations, overflowed generously upon the stage.

MATURITY IS ADDED

If at all Mr. Hofmann impressed differently last evening from upon previous occasions it was by a certain added maturity—not of thought, for that has always distinguished him, but of attitude. There was a shade added to his wonted tenderness of expression, a more rarefied intellectual attack; no loss of the old virility, mind you, but a more sober, studied exercise of it. In surety of technique he shows not the slightest diminution, playing at battledore and shuttlecock as ever with tremendous blocks of chords; playing them, in fact, with the confidence, force shading and tempo that many who heard him would doubt to exercise upon a row of single notes.

For his longest number Mr. Hofmann chose the third of the group of sonatas composed in 1825, that in E flat major. It has not often been heard here, nor is the most interesting, by

New Trial Denied in Perjury Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—A. P. Carroll, convicted of making a false affidavit, has been denied a new trial by the Appellate Court, following the dispute over signatures to the recall petition against District Attorney Charles M. Fickert, which he swore were all made in his presence. At the trial this statement was disproved, with the result that Carroll was held guilty of perjury. He appealed. Carroll has been sentenced to six months in the county jail.

DEMOCRATIZATION COMES TO HALT

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—There will be no further discharges for several months of soldiers in the service of the United States, Colonel J. R. McAndrews of the army general staff announced at a meeting here of the committee on demobilizing and unemployment of the state reconstruction commission.

Colonel McAndrews, who was accompanied by Lieutenant-Colonel R. H. Kimball, also of the general staff, stated that the number of soldiers serving in the United States has been reduced to the minimum needed for the maintenance of the military establishment, and that discharges for the next few months, at least, would be confined to men returning from overseas.

During February, it was said, not more than 150,000 overseas troops would be returned for demobilization and not more than 200,000 would be returned in March.

New York police officials fear a crime wave because so many soldiers had been discharged in and about the city. Deputy Police Commissioner Porter declared a "wet" meeting of discharged men congregated here, he asserted, were better equipped for marauding by reason of their army training and handling of weapons.

Colonel J. R. McAndrews contradicted this statement, declaring that discharges of men of the lower grades with men of high character, had raised the morale of the lower instead of lowering that of the high.

WIDE-OPEN CAFE PROGRAM FOUGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—"Joy unconfined" started a row unconfined in the board of supervisors, words unrefined have been passed back and forth by the makers of San Francisco's laws—and today the proposal of the cafes of this city to stay open with dancing during the remainder of the "wet" days before federal war prohibition is in the balance—and may lose.

The ordinance, drawn by the cafe men and designed to permit cafe dancing until 2 o'clock, is vigorously opposed by the hotels. It was presented by Supervisor James E. Peever and Supervisor Charles Scelison started a fight on it. Supervisor A. J. Gallagher vigorously opposed the plan, demanding a report as to whether Police Commissioner Theodore Roche favored it. Supervisor "Eddie" Wolfe spoke in its favor. "It's legislative dynamite!" said Gallagher.

Finally it was referred to a committee and today its passage is very uncertain, with opponents and proponents lining up for a final fight next week, when it will come up again.

STATE HOME ACTIVITIES TO BE CHANGED

Changes in the scope of state activities that will divorce correctional from charitable activities of the commonwealth are under consideration by the efficiency and economy commission recently appointed by Governor Stephens. Testimony of many interested in the two branches was taken by the commission yesterday and today.

Local institutions will be affected by the change if it goes through. A new segregation is made possible in the plans projected by the appointment of a director of public welfare to be assisted by an advisory commission. His department would be divided into five sections with the following scope:

State homes, including the Industrial Home for the Adult Blind, Veterans' home and W. I. C. home; hospital, including Home for feeble minded and Lunacy commission; penal institutions, including state's prison directors, prison wardens and bureau of identification; correctional institutions, including Whittier, Preston and the school for girls; social service, including institutions for the care of orphans, widows, charities and the like.

The chief discussion in yesterday's session came when P. H. McCarthy, Andrew J. Gallagher and others challenged the right to group children under public welfare, maintaining this to be a task for the new department of labor. It should be divorced, they declared, from the control of the body administering corrections.

THIS DOG HAS ANTIPATHY FOR ALL UNIFORMS

Belief that the fancy bull terrier owned by W. J. and Mrs. Jennie G. White of Hamilton Place, is a pro-German dog, was expressed by attaches of Justice of the Peace Harry W. Puliczer's court today at the hearing of the damage suit of R. W. Whitehead, a mail carrier, against the dog's owners. It seems to possess an inherent antipathy for uniforms, and takes delight in showing his teeth when soldiers, sailors, salaried or mail carriers pass by.

According to the evidence the dog hid behind a bush and jumped out at the plaintiff, tearing a hole in his trousers and injuring his leg. He sued for $29 damages. Attorneys for the defendants claimed that for a dog to be considered vicious, according to law, he must be openly and notoriously vicious—that any dog is entitled to an occasional bite. It was argued that dogs are human in that they have their natural likes and dislikes, and that a man would not be deemed vicious because he dislikes a certain class of men.

Judge Puliczer held that a biting dog is a dangerous enemy and that any one who wanted to own one was entitled to pay the costs. His fixed damages at $75.

Daniels' Big Navy Bill Wins Victory

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Secretary Daniels' bigger American navy program, endorsed by President Wilson, was restored to the naval appropriation bill this afternoon when the House, by a vote of 205 to 148, adopted a special rule, reported by the rules committee, providing for the Daniels program as part of the bill, notwithstanding the general rule of the House, which prohibits legislation as a part of the appropriation measure. It was a victory for the Daniels proposal.

BOY'S CUSTODY AGAIN DISPUTED

Once again about the person of 8-year-old David McKenzie Hanbury will a bitter legal fight be waged, and the courts of California be called upon to decide who shall have guardianship of the boy. John McKenzie Hanbury, uncle of the child, yesterday filed a petition in the superior court of San Francisco, asking that the proceedings wherein William P. Banta, stepfather of the David McKenzie Hanbury, was granted letters of guardianship over him in February, 1915, by Judge Troutt be reopened. The Hanbury petition inaugurates a litigation on behalf of the wealthy family of Hanburys in Cornwall, England, to get control of the Hanbury heir. The uncle intends to ask to be appointed guardian of the boy and to take him to England should the adoption rights of Banta be set aside.

District Attorney C. M. Fickert and T. L. K. Cormac represent the English family.

David McKenzie Hanbury is the son of the late David T. Hanbury, explorer, owner of Island No. 2 in the Napa river and heir to the Hanbury wealth. His marriage to Miss Marie Eleanor Mansfield, a telephone operator, was followed shortly by his death. The widow later married a Martinez hotel man, William P. Banta.

That Mrs. Banta has dissipated her share in the Hanbury estate since her marriage to Banta will probably be contended in the effort to show that there is danger of the boy's estate also being dissipated if the child is not removed from his present environment. Banta's petition to be named guardian of the lad was denied last week by Judge Nourse. Mrs. Banta opposed the child, the decision of Judge Nourse is expected to be brought forward as evidence.

BROWN EGG IS GAINING FAVOR IN CALIFORNIA

Providence which has so long prevailed in California against brown and mixed-colored eggs is being rapidly overcome, according to S. Ilerman, local wholesale commission merchant, who says that the demand for such eggs is growing steadily. Ilerman said:

"Brown and mixed-colored eggs are just as good in every respect as white eggs and in many cases weigh more to the dozen than the white variety. People have been led to believe that brown and mixed-colored eggs indicate age, but this is a great mistake. White eggs may be very old and still look fresh, while the brown eggs may look old and be perfectly fresh. There is no way of determining except by handling or breaking. We handle thousands of eggs and find the brown eggs of just as high quality as the white variety."

"Poultry raisers should be encouraged to breed chickens that lay brown eggs. They not only produce just as fine quality of eggs, but in most instances are larger and better meat-producers. There is a future for the brown eggs and in my opinion the time is not far away when they will be placed on an equality with white eggs. There is no reason why this should not be the case. There is no well-founded reason for rejecting eggs merely on the color of the shell. The shell has nothing whatever to do with the quality of the egg."

WEDS AT SIXTY. ALAMEDA, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Amelia Walter of Alameda, 60 years of age, and David Castro of San Francisco, 59, were married in San Francisco Saturday afternoon. Castro is with the southern Pacific. Before her marriage the bride resided at 873 Laurel street, this city.

DRY EDICT VOID, SAYS NEWSPAPER

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 11.—The Providence Journal will print tomorrow a statement declaring that, after consultation with some of the best known constitutional lawyers in the country, it believed the action of Acting Secretary Polk in proclaiming the prohibition amendment effective and adopted was illegal. The proclamation is entirely void, the Journal contends, for the reason that when it was made the four states had not ratified the amendment. The statement says:

"This list of states included a number of states, the constitution of which contained provisions for referendum of the acts and resolutions of their legislative assemblies. Among these states were Ohio and California."

"Therefore Polk's proclamation declaring that thirty-six states had ratified as of January 16, 1919, is assumed that the states listed as ratifying had completed their procedure, when in fact their procedure was no more complete than it would have been if only one house of the general assembly had acted and the decision of the other house was still undetermined."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Acting Secretary of State Polk declined to comment last night on the statement of the Providence Journal questioning the legality of his act in proclaiming the prohibition amendment effective further than to say that the proclamation had been issued on the advice of the legal department of the government.

Attorney General Gregory said so far as he had been officially informed no question had been raised as to the legality of the ratifications by the states. He declined to comment on the statement of the Journal's statement without first being advised as to the identity of the lawyers who had been consulted.

Legal officers of the government have said in their opinion the proclamation by the secretary of state declaring an amendment to the constitution effective is a mere matter of form and that the amendment would become effective upon ratification by the thirty-sixth state without reference to whether such a proclamation was issued.

Producers Uphold Market Director

The following resolutions have been adopted by the directors of the San Joaquin Valley Milk Producers' Association:

"It is with surprise and indignation that we learn of a movement to legislate the state market director of California out of office. We believe that this department of our state government has been a pronounced, unqualified and conspicuous success. We believe that the farmers of California, if consulted, would be most ready to maintain a unit in agreement with this expression."

"The state market director, during his term of office, has worked efficiently, and has stood consistently for co-operative farmers' marketing associations. These associations, as organized, and doing business, have brought millions in money to the consumer of California, while, at the same time, they have furnished the consumer with a larger and better product at no greater cost than that of the inferior products of former years. Here in Fresno the success of these co-operative movements is a matter of common knowledge. The raisin industry, which was threatened with ruin under the old system of competitive selling, has been re-established, enlarged and extended under the co-operative methods of the California Associated Raisin Company, and the consumers are assured of more and better raisins at a stable price, which does not rob them, while it gives the producer a fair compensation for his labor. The California peach growers is another conspicuous example of success by this method. The dairymen are organizing and are getting their industry, which was threatened with extermination, on a firm and secure basis, by reason of which the consumer cannot fail to be ultimately benefited."

"Having in view these facts, and knowing how the state market director has aided in the good work of establishing the highly beneficial and useful organizations, we cannot but view with alarm any effort in the direction of discontinuing that office."

"On behalf of the farmers of Central California, we protest against any consideration of a measure that, with its accompanying implications if put into effect, would tend to cripple, if not destroy, some of our greatest and best industries."

"FRED W. HANSEN, President."

"B. B. MINOR, Secretary."

New Englanders to Serve Baked Beans

An old-time baked bean supper with all the necessary "trimmings" will be served at the Starling hall Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock by the California-New England Association Inc., and all New Englanders have been invited to attend. The regular February meeting of the association will be held after the supper and the affair will be in the nature of a Valentine party.

During the evening Ralph F. Fisher, at the head of vocational guidance for rounded soldiers for the Pacific division, will outline his work. Solos will be rendered by Mrs. Mabel Forester Price, Miss Neva Breeding will give some recitations and Miss Gladys Moore will render piano solos.

From the home of Dr. Elmer Morrison, 2700 San Pablo avenue, the thief took a quantity of morphine and a gold watch and chain.

Conspicuous nose pores

How to reduce them

Complexions otherwise flawless are often ruined by conspicuous nose pores.

In such cases the small muscular fibres of the nose have become weakened and do not keep the pores closed as they should be. Instead, these pores collect dirt, clog up and become enlarged.

To reduce enlarged nose pores: wring a cloth from very hot water, later it with Woodbury's Facial Soap, then hold it to your face. When heat has expanded the pores, rub in very gently a fresh lather of Woodbury's. Repeat this hot water and lather application several times, stopping at once if your nose feels sensitive. Then finish by rubbing the nose for thirty seconds with a lump of ice.

Notice the improvement the very first treatment makes—a promise of what its steady use will do.

Do not expect to change in a week, however, a condition resulting from years of neglect. But use this treatment persistently. It will gradually reduce the enlarged pores until they are inconspicuous.

Blackheads, conspicuous nose pores, oily skin and shiny nose, blemishes, a sluggish, sallow skin—treatments for these and others of the commoner skin troubles are given in the booklet "A Skin You Love to Touch" which comes wrapped around the soap.

NERVOUS RUN-DOWN WOMAN

Tells How Vinol Creates Strength.

Dulcien, Tenn.—"I live on a farm and keep house for six in my family. I got into a nervous, run-down condition so it seemed as though I would die. A friend advised me to try Vinol. I have been greatly improved by its use and am better and stronger, in every way."

—Mrs. H. H. Goodwin.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Goodwin's case is because it contains beef and cod liver oil, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weak, run-down system and create strength.

HELLO, BROWN, YOU'RE LOOKING AS SPRY AS A KITTEN

STOMACH UPSET?

Pape's Diapiesin At Once Ends Dyspepsia, Acidity, Gas, Indigestion

Your meals hit back! Your stomach is sour, acid, gassy and you feel bloated after eating or you have heavy lumps of indigestion pain or headache, but never mind. Here is instant relief.

What's all this I hear about you? You're looking as spry as a kitten because you felt that gray hairs and a president's position were incompatible. I tell you, Smith, I did not come that way. I was a weak, old, fat, and every time I looked in the mirror I saw myself as an old man. I was the way that I did it. Well, as I was reading the paper the other evening I saw an advertisement of Prof. John H. Austin's announcing his discovery of a new, scientific way of getting rid of gray hairs. I had heard so much of the disappointment of my friends in using hair restorers that didn't do a thing to experiment on my own hair, but his announcement was so thoroughly consistent that I decided to try it. That was only a little over a week ago—now look at my hair. Why, it's made me feel like a young man again. Just to look in the mirror and not see those gray hairs brings back the pep of youth.

What's all this I hear about you? No, sir—no! I've got ten years of good business left, and I can do a lot of business in ten years.

NEW TRIP FOR CHIEF ALLOWED

Over a protest by Commissioner of Revenue and Finance W. H. Edwards, the city council today appropriated $100 expense for sending Chief of Police Henry Nedderman and Corporal Vernon Coley to the Identification Bureau convention to be held in Santa Barbara February 17 to 24.

The chief has been on two of these excursions already and has cost the city nearly $100, said Edwards. "The city's funds are low and it is time to call a halt on these things."

"The chief of police seems to be attending conventions all the time. Perhaps it would be better if he stayed home and ran his department," said Commissioner Fred Soderberg.

"That is a very far-fetched remark," said Commissioner P. E. Jackson. "These conventions are not fun—they are actual business, and no one goes to them for fun. According to the convention rules, the chief of police must attend and the city must pay for his expenses. If the chief of police does not attend, the city will be liable for the expenses of the convention. The chief of police has been on these excursions for several years and has never been reprimanded. The city has paid for his expenses for several years and has never been reprimanded. The city has paid for his expenses for several years and has never been reprimanded."

THREE MONTHS AFTER.

Just three months have passed since the signing of the first armistice agreement and the cessation of hostilities. Half of this time the Allied peace delegates have been in Paris. The one task that has been finished, if official announcement is correct, is the drafting of the agreement and the constitution of the league of nations—henceforth to be called the "Society of Nations." "Society" is a milder term than "league." The manner in which the word was selected gives notice that the new order is not to be a league or confederation—merely an association of nations.

Future events will demonstrate whether the time lost in enforcing peace conditions on Germany and informing the peoples of the earth that the war is at an end was worth the Society of Nations. We hope for an affirmative verdict; indeed, believe that such will be the judgment of time. But no one can be certain. Experience has shown that it will still be unsafe for this nation to neglect to prepare for defense against powers that accept written agreements for the sake of expediency only.

But while the formulation of the society of nations agreement has been going on progress has been made in other labors of the peace delegates. The territorial aspirations of the several entente nations have in large measure been composed, such a troublesome matter as the conflicting demands of Italy and Yugoslavia having been in the main adjusted. The Polish republic has been recognized, a truce has been declared between the Poles and the Czech-Slovaks and the fixing of their boundaries promises to be short work. The committee for fixing the responsibility of the war and the committee for computing the indemnities to which each Allied nation is entitled are ready to report. An agreement has been reached as to the disposition of Germany's colonies.

Therefore, to all appearances, the next month of the Allied conference ought to record completion of the terms to be imposed on the enemy. If Germany changes her tactics toward the armistice conditions and does all she can to fulfill them, she will then be permitted to know the price of her crimes.

TRADE IN THE PACIFIC.

Mr. Chao Hsin Chu, Chinese Consul General at San Francisco, was in New York last month, and in a speech before the American Manufacturers' Export Association he uttered a very obvious truth regarding the trade situation in the Pacific. The government at Washington ought to ponder it. Inasmuch as Mr. Breckinridge Long, Third Assistant Secretary of State, heard the address of the Chinese Consul, perhaps some notice of it will be taken. Said Mr. Chu:

"You have been building up your foreign trade in Latin American countries to a full extent; yet you have not paid proper and adequate attention to your foreign trade in the Far East. I hope that America will now keep her eyes open to a further business field on the other side of the Pacific for her trade expansion. Prior to the war Germany had developed her trade in the Orient to a great extent. German interests have practically died out, for we have driven the Hun out of business, and now it is the very chance for America to enlarge her foreign trade there, and such replacement. I can assure you, will become permanent and most acceptable."

Mr. Chu almost overstepped the diplomatic conventions in his opening sentence. He uttered in the hearing of the Third Assistant Secretary of State a truth about which there have been many disagreeable admissions. The Tribune and Pacific Coast manufacturers and shippers have repeatedly called the attention of the government to its intensive efforts to promote trade with Latin America, all of which is proper, and its utter neglect of trade interests in the Pacific, which is inexcusable.

The Chinese Consul General did not intend to call to mind the recent and much lamented American surrender in the Far East. But all who heard him must have thought instinctively of Secretary of State Bryan's repudiation of all that American traders had done and were trying to do in that area.

Neither did Mr. Chu intend to remind his hearers of the motives of the administration's neglect of the Pacific and its unctious attention to trade opportunities in the Southern Atlantic. It is an old story that the original program of the federal shipping board was to operate ships between United States and Latin American ports. These vessels would for the most part operate out of New Orleans, Galveston, Charleston, Norfolk—all Southern ports. They would benefit the South. This was the aim of the administration dominated by Southern Democrats and the enactment of laws which drove the American flag out of the Pacific was grist to their mill. It would have been unseemly for the Chinese consul to have referred to this—and it was unnecessary.

Has the war brought a wider vision to the government at Washington? Is there now a realization that the Pacific is one frontier of the United States? Many acts create doubt that there has been any improvement, yet the experience of the last few years has been so illuminating that it seems impossible that the Chinese viewpoint should not be accepted.

"A POTATO AGE."

Since its discovery in the sixteenth century by the Spanish voyagers to Peru the potato has made great progress in winning the respect of the world. It has been an extremely important source of the daily food supply of man in the temperate zone of North America and Europe for over a century, ranking next to wheat. Nothing has done so much, however, to raise the economic importance of the potato as the recent war.

When Germany learned that her potato crop for 1918 would be but little more than 600,000,000 bushels, as against $50,000,000 for the previous year, she was filled with despair. Some say that food shortage brought on the military collapse of Germany, but this is overlooking the convincing efforts of the armies commanded by Marshal Foch. But if a food shortage had any effect on German resistance, the failure of the potato crop was an important factor.

Most of the 6,000,000,000 bushels of potatoes produced in the world are grown in Europe and North America, and represent a value of from $2,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 per annum. They have up to this time been of comparatively little importance from the standpoint of international commerce by reason of the difficulty of transportation and their comparatively perishable character. During the recent war, however, Germany developed the art of drying the potato in a manner in which it could be kept indefinitely, and transported as readily as wheat or flour, and the opportunity is thus offered to enormously increase the production and world distribution of this important and easily produced food supply for man and beast. The number of factories for potato drying in Germany increased from three in 1903 to about one thousand in 1918, and they have an annual capacity for crushing 50,000,000 tons of potatoes and turning them into flakes or cubes for animal food and various grades of flour for human consumption.

With this new facility for turning the potato from its former perishable state to one in which it can be permanently stored and easily transported, the world's great potato producing area, now chiefly Europe and North America, may supply a much greater quantity of world food than at present.

A lecturer before a class in international trade and commercial geography in New York a few days ago stated that of equal importance with the food value is the future of the potato in supplying motive power by which man may develop that great undeveloped area of the world, the tropics, and at the same time increase the transportation facilities of the temperate zone and reduce the number of food-consuming animals which this zone employs. Careful students of the internal combustion engine (which would include the engines of automobiles, flying machines and farm motors and others of similar character) have many of them reached the conclusion that alcohol will prove not only a substitute for gasoline, but will in fact render service superior to that of gasoline when utilized with a properly constructed engine. Should the rapidly-growing demand for petroleum and its varied products require the world to turn to some other fuel for the internal combustion engine, it is at least combating to know that we may produce alcohol from potatoes at the rate of from 200 to 100 gallons per acre.

The number of horses in the world today, said the lecturer, is about 110,000,000, and they require for their sustenance enough land to produce food for 200,000,000 people. If we can substitute the internal combustion engine for the horse we shall not only develop that great undeveloped area, the tropics, where the horse is unable to perform service, but also release for the production of food for man enormous areas now utilized in producing food for horses which will then be no longer required.

Assuming that these hopeful prophecies may be only fulfilled in part—and they are not extravagant—the world may be about to usher in the potato era. If it should prove a commercially profitable source of fuel—its utilization for this purpose has long since been demonstrated scientifically—man will be guaranteed inexhaustible motive power for his internal combustion engine. He will not have to worry about the life of oil reserves.

NOTES and COMMENT

Senator Rush has introduced a bill to impose a tax ranging from $1 to $5 on dogs, and to prohibit owners allowing them to run at large. Also for the elimination of the ownerless dogs. The Senator had the protection of sheep in view. The San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is up in arms. It could be argued that in the country sheep have a right to life and such happiness as is possible pending the time that they are mutilated; and urban humans are entitled to succumb to roaming canines. This need not mean that dogs are cruelly unappreciated.

"Red" Everett says it is all due to a blow on the head from a baseball bat. The jail physician says he can cure it by an operation on the brain. As "Red" recently attempted suicide, if he still feels that way he would stand to win however the operation turned out.

The reminder of Premier Clemenceau that the war is halted but not won, and several signs that are not absolutely reassuring, are likely to cause an apprehensive hope that the nations are demobilizing too soon.

The sixty-five members of the so-called National Women's party who burned the President in effigy at Washington have a twisted idea of things if they figure that that sort of thing will get them any distance toward whatever goal they are headed for. There may be some disagreement with the President, but there is no considerable spirit that will tolerate such a demonstration as that.

"After what these people have done in France, we don't intend to stand for their being insulted over here." That was what a returned soldier said to a man who interfered with a Salvation Army service—after he had knocked the man down.

Los Angeles has another new idea. The keeper of a private sanitarium puts bells on patients, so they can be rounded up on some rascally time. Chance here for the usual San Diego comment.

A San Francisco paper heads an extended article, "A Chicken Pie." It is quite an interesting essay, but chicken pie doesn't need any pie.

The former crown prince complains that his life is dull. A very large division of the civilized world agrees that it ought to be made livelier—for him. And it is expected that soon it will be.

The "Charley Ross" mystery in San Francisco is a curious reversal of the Charley Ross mystery that years ago was the sensation of the country. In that instance, Charley Ross' disappearance was the mystery. The finding of Ross is what nonpluses everybody in this latter case.

The California Association of Pear Growers favors the retention of Harris Winstock as State Market Director. It is only fair to give the market fishermen a hearing, if there is to be an expression of opinion all around.

Billy Sunday has beat William Jennings Bryan in it claiming credit for the dry wave. Though there have been intimations from the latter that he had a big hand in bringing about the result.

The San Francisco Welfare League has started a movement to double the salaries of the judges of the superior and police courts. That pert query, "What's the idea?" might come in here.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Precedence at Merced, according to the Star: "They had a debate out at Le Grande the other day, in which Young America expressed some very sound doctrine in regard to Uncle Sam's feeling with regard to a Democrat, no matter how old the Democrat or how young the boy."

Ten minutes after she hooked the largest albacore of the season last Wednesday, Mrs. G. F. Steele of Montreal, Canada, was compelled to abandon the fight and turn the rove to Mr. Steele. Commenting upon the activities of the fish, Mr. Steele said: "It was the hardest fighting albacore I ever landed. I fought it for about fifteen minutes."—Catalina Islander.

The Hanford Sentinel notes one of the "dry" results: "With the prohibition amendment ratified, it would seem that Richmond Pearson Hobson is really out of a job."

The Red Bluff News forces teamwork. "McAdoo and Bill Hart will make a daring team when it comes to make a stunt as holding up a railroad system or a string of banks. Mac can pin them out and Bill can do the rest."

HUNDRED PER CENT FAIR.
 To the Editor of The Tribune:
 As a Democrat and an admirer of President Wilson I deem it my duty as well as a pleasure to thank you for the fair and just editorials that have done credit to your paper ever since the President was re-elected. At all times you have been extremely fair in your judgment and when at times you have felt called upon to criticize the administration, your criticism has been constructive and not in the nature of unfair partisanship. It has not been necessary for The TRIBUNE to advertise itself as 100 per cent American; your journal shows for itself that it is not only 100 per cent fair, but also 100 per cent fair to ALL its readers. Sincerely yours,

ORENSBURG, RUSSIAN CENTER

The city of Orenburg, to which lies 260 miles to the east by rail. Tons of tallow, butter, cheese, hams and sausages were shipped from Orenburg annually. "Thirteen years ago the railway line was extended from Orenburg to Tashkent, a distance of more than 1,100 miles. While this 20th century achievement served to stimulate trade, it has robbed the city on the north bank of the Volga of many of its picturesque camel-caravan visitors.

"Orenburg in peace times was not without its cultural advantages. It had two cadet colleges, nearly forty churches besides its mosques (Tartars, and Bashkirs) and a branch of the Russian Geographical Society. Its climate is dry and subject to considerable fluctuations of temperature, for although the average for the year is only five degrees above freezing, the thermometer not infrequently rises to 38 in mid-summer, while 23 degrees below zero in winter is not uncommon.

"The Ural River, which forms a part of the boundary line between European and Asiatic Russia, is not a navigable stream, otherwise Orenburg would be an even more important commercial center. "The city is the capital of the Russian government or province of Orenburg which has an area somewhat less than that of South Dakota, but three times the population. "Before the war there were numerous settlements of German colonists in the neighborhood of the canal.

"Orenburg for many years has been noted among womankind for its beautiful white and gray shawls, so finely knitted of pure goats' wool that many of them can be drawn through a finer ring. These products of skillful industry formerly sold for from $12 to $35 a square yard."

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Exercise Like the Play of a Child Best for Grown-Ups

BY DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
 A. S. M. A. M. D.
 (Johns Hopkins University)

Physical culture and muscular agility is best practiced along the natural lines enjoyed by the lively boy and girl.

Forced gymnastics, hampered by artificial conditions, are so far removed from spontaneity that they become irksome and of such little interest as to lose their value.

Baseball, however, is by no means all that it's cracked up to be as a muscle developer. In a baseball game, an outfielder may spend half his time with his hands on his hips, another three-fourths on the bench, and the remaining eighth at bat on bases and catching the ball.

Two hours are thus all but wasted and he has hardly much more muscular play, fresh air and sunlight than the spectators on the "bleachers."

There are only a very few minutes of actual play in football. Discussion, disentanglements and tension are the most exhaustive forces in most football games.

If the branch of a tree outdoors were used in place of the horizontal bar, a ship's mast instead of the climbing pole, rigging instead of ropes and rings, a live pony or mule in place of the wooden horse, all in the open sunlight, these would be preferable for the most part to games as muscle makers.

To tighten the muscles and to keep them in training, to prolong your life and to keep your blood red and pure, breathe deeply twice each day from three to five minutes each time.

Your mouth should be closed, your hands high above the head as you inspire. With expiration bend down until your arms allow the fingers to touch the toes.

The muscles of the chest walls and abdomen are often among the first to become stiff in old age. Respiratory exercises and twists and turns around the spine as an aid help to loosen these.

A horseback gallop of two hours and a half hour to an hour's walk every day, may make the fat and the old slender and youthful again.

There is much more muscular exertion in shipbuilding, lumbering, smithing, farming and even fishing than city folk understand. It sits well upon men and women of large cities to take a month or less and work at one of these country pursuits.

The number of city dwellers has risen in a century from 2 per cent to 60 per cent. This means that perhaps 23 per cent of the inhabitants of this country have put their muscles to as little use as a bird in a cage or a lion in a menagerie.

The artificial confinement and the indolent, too comfortable life of the crowded masses in the city, has produced ineffectual, stiff and obese muscles instead of youthful, skilful, alert, agile ones. This doesn't now apply to the millions of men in the army and navy, but to the other forty million with posture defects, round shoulders, bay window belts, flat feet, curvature of the spine, constipation, anemia and a small legion of other physical imperfections.

Exercises done in the morning and afternoon for fifteen to twenty minutes each time is as necessary for most men over 25 as is teeth cleaning and hair brushing.

Ahead of Him.
 "I am afraid that your son is a follower of Bacchus," said the preacher who was calling on old Gotro.

"A follower?" exclaimed old Gotro. "Why, he came out up with that guy Rubeck and passed him years ago!"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

SHIPPING, OILS, RAILS ARE FIRMER

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Shipments, tobacco, oils and several of the speculative equipments were firm to strong at the night opening of today's stock market, gaining 1 to 2 points. There was a better demand also for rails. United States Steel and the more prominent copper were barely steady, and Bethlehem Steel reacted a large fraction. Selling of Liberty bonds was resumed, the fourth $5 million making a new low record of $2.5. The trend of the day's trading follows.

FOREIGN—Buying of specialties expanded during the morning, oils advancing leadership at gains of 1 to 2 points, but automobile issues made little response. Shipbuilders failed to carry out their early promise, except United Fruit, which gained 3 points, but equipment, tobacco and distilling shares increased the average. American became weaker and strong, following publication of the annual report, but rails remained dull, though showing greater firmness.

AFTERNOON—Short covering became more urgent in the afternoon, especially in oils and equipments. In Mexican Petroleum, Royal Dutch and Canadian Pacific were considerable advances. American Oil and Gulf and Leather preferred gained, while United States Steel continued to hold.

CLOSING—Oils reacted 1 to 2 points. The first four, including United Fruit, Canadian Pacific and the others, were accompanied by short shares.

MAGNIFICENT DREAM HOTEL BARED IN SUIT

Department eight of the Superior Court, in which Judge W. M. Conley is presiding, is filled with plans for a magnificent dream hotel which Oakland came near realizing in 1912, according to Architect William H. Wilcox. On the wall is pinned a picture of it and all those interested in the subject admit that it is a thing of beauty. It was to cost $300,000, according to the plans and the allegations of the suit concerning it, and authorities are agreed that it would cost twice or three times the money to build it now.

Architect Wilcox, 82 years old, is suing Mrs. Edith M. Durst, executrix of the estate of Murray H. Durst, of the Durst horse ranches, for the architect fees. It is alleged that Wilcox was commissioned to draw plans for a hotel to occupy the block bounded by Broadway, Webster, Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets. The fee was to have been one per cent of the cost of the building, and it is claimed that $1157 was received on account, leaving a balance owing of $23,425.

The aged architect worked for years perfecting the plans, he says, and even since the deal fell through he dreams over them and continuously plans their greater perfection. The plaintiff in reply to the suit alleges that she has no knowledge whatever of her late husband having ever contemplated building such a hotel or that he ever commissioned Wilcox to prepare the plans.
